Sergio Armando Barbosa Casas

Dear Sergio,

We are pleased to inform you that you have been selected to receive the Civil & Environmental Engineering Graduate Committee Graduate Scholarship Award.

You will be awarded $726.00 for Fall 2020

We congratulate you for your excellent qualifications. We are certain that you will continue to reflect credit upon yourself, BYU, and those who have made this award possible. You should know that your scholarship is funded from faculty contributions, department funds, and alumni and friends of BYU.

To receive this scholarship award, please write a thank-you letter addressed to Dr. Gus Williams and submit this letter to Jolene Johnson (jolene_johnson@byu.edu) in the Civil Engineering office via email, no later than Friday, October 16, 2020. Your submittal of this letter signifies your formal acceptance of this award.

Your thank-you letter should contain the following elements:

- As the donors are very interested in the students who are awarded this scholarship, express appreciation for their generosity in making this scholarship possible for your benefit.
- Write a brief biographical sketch about yourself. Limit your response to 300 words.
- Describe your educational, professional, and other goals and include how BYU and the Civil and Environmental Engineering department will help you achieve them. Limit your response to 300 words.
- List and/or describe your participation and leadership during the last three years in extracurricular activities including ASCE, performance groups, athletics, cultural and civic clubs, and church and community service. Limit your response to 300 words.
- Excluding a mission, describe your experience if you have lived internationally for at least 1 year or more. Limit your response to 100 words.
- Include a picture of yourself and/or your family.

Please use your best writing skills while preparing this letter. Consider asking someone to proofread the letter. Both you and our program are judged by how you write.

Jolene Johnson will forward your correspondence to the donor(s).

We hope this award will assist you in continued excellence as a BYU student. The Civil and Environmental Engineering faculty commend you for your fine academic performance and wish you continued success in your graduate studies. Best wishes to you for a successful school year as you continue your education.

As you progress towards your graduation from the Department of Civil and Environmental Engineering and as you pursue your career, we encourage you to join our alumni in contributing back to the department, or establishing your own scholarship, to help other students who will follow.

Sincerely,

Norman Jones
